

Joyce Costanza loves being a writer and a stay-at-home mom. Joyce is an active member of the PTA and the Writer's Guild of America, West and is proud of her accomplishments in both arenas – from writing comedy for Carol Burnett, Peter Krause and Billy Connolly to being proactive in both her kids' schools, whether running a Bake Sale or creating fun curriculum-based programs that get kids thinking for themselves. Joyce lives in Burbank, CA with Writer/Producer hubby Larry Moskowitz and their two lovely and lively children, Rachel and Ethan.

Shiela Cavalluzzi was born in France and is an adopted Air Force brat. She is a mom, an artist, has been a devoted Brownie leader, and held lots of PTA positions (yes, Parliamentarian). As an artist, Shiela has sculpted numerous Public Art pieces, and is currently working on several monumental scale sculptures. Her real happiness is family: husband, Ray and children Christopher and Emily; the bright, loving, imaginative, creative and funny joys of life.

“One day Joyce said to me, ‘I’m writing a script to bring Betsy Ross into the classroom. It’s a new program we’re trying.’ Three years later, Time Travelers was a reality. After hours and hours of hard work, these two moms have created an amazing product. So... can I have my wife back now?”
